The WICHE Behavioral Health Program’s mission is very simple, focusing on improving services and building a qualified workforce responsive to, and informed by, persons with behavioral health challenges and their families. In the past 65 years much has changed, but our mission has remained consistent. Our job is to support our member states and territories in a manner that extends capacities and informs action.

INTRODUCTION FROM LEADERSHIP

Dear WICHE Behavioral Health Program Partners:

Since 1955, the WICHE Behavioral Health Program (BHP) has engaged with our partners to improve the quality of behavioral health care throughout the West and beyond.

The past year has seen significant positive change and program growth. Our Oversight Council voted unanimously, in November, to change our name from the Mental Health to the Behavioral Health Program. After 65 years, the change reflected our growing work across the spectrum of mental health, substance use, addiction, and integration with primary care.

Our efforts support improvements in care and help build and sustain a quality behavioral health workforce. Like other programs in WICHE's broad and deep portfolio of work, we accomplish this by promoting innovation, cooperation, resource-sharing, and sound public policy. The WICHE BHP extends the capabilities of our partners, whom we support through technical assistance, research and evaluation, and professional development. Across our 16 member states and territories, the WICHE BHP seeks to add value through collaborative effort.

Our dedicated staff have been busy in fiscal year 2019. This annual report provides you with a snapshot of our efforts across the West. Highlights include:

• With our partners, we support doctoral clinical psychology internship programs in Alaska, Hawai‘i, Nevada, and Oregon, and launched new program development in Idaho, New Mexico, and Utah. We are proud to report that more than 60 percent of graduates from the internships continue their professional work in the states in which they completed their internship.

• In partnership with the University of North Dakota, one of our region's flagship institutions, we were chosen to launch one of the 10 regional Mental Health Technology Transfer Centers (MHTTC), funded by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). Our Mountain Plains MHTTC serves HHS Region 8 (CO, UT, WY, MT, SD, ND).

• Our Together With Veterans rural veteran suicide prevention pilot project with the Rocky Mountain Veterans Administration Mental Illness Research, Education and Clinical Centers (MIRECC), continues with a new community-based effort launching in Montana, North Carolina, and Texas in fiscal year 2019.

I hope you find the work described within this annual report illustrative of both our breadth of work and our capabilities. As you receive this report, we're already engaged in another busy year supporting our partners throughout and beyond the WICHE region.

Sincerely yours,

Dennis F. Mohatt
Vice President for Behavioral Health

Demarée Michelau
WICHE President

In November 2018, the WICHE Commission selected Dr. Demarée Michelau as our eighth president. Demi has been a WICHE staff member and senior leader for over 16 years, and also happens to be the first woman to serve as WICHE president. Her leadership over the past year has significantly contributed to the positive gains outlined in this report.

This report covers the work done between July 1, 2018–June 30, 2019.
The Annapolis Coalition on the Behavioral Health Workforce

The WICHE BHP assisted the Annapolis Coalition in developing a Behavioral Health Workforce Development Strategic Plan for the University of Alaska. Initiatives included identifying best practices in universities relevant to behavioral health workforce development that would pertain to universities in rural states, and assisting in drafting and editing the strategic plan.

Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation

Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation: Wassaja Family Services program evaluation
The Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation leadership contracted with the WICHE BHP to evaluate the organizational structure and effectiveness of their Wassaja Family Services agency, to assess whether gaps existed between services offered and services needed within the community, and to assess the readiness of the agency to pursue accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation for Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF). The WICHE BHP employed a combination of literature review, document review, community surveys, and key informant interviews to address these questions and provide recommendations for agency improvement.

Nevada Behavioral Health Community Integration Strategic Plan

The WICHE BHP provided consultation to support the operationalization of the Nevada Behavioral Health Community Integration Strategic Plan. Specifically, the WICHE BHP identified approaches/considerations for implementing the SAMHSA Assertive Community Treatment and Permanent Supportive Housing models in urban and rural regions based on the practices and lessons learned in other states and identified considerations for and rural adaptations to the SAMHSA fidelity tools and any lessons learned. Two experts conducted on-site training for community providers for the evidence-based practices of Assertive Community Treatment (ACT) and Permanent Supportive Housing (PSH) based on the SAMHSA Toolkit models, including an overview of the fidelity to these practices.

“The challenge is to help local communities create a safe space and build the trust that enables people to talk about things that are difficult to talk about. It’s not something that happens quickly. If you want to fail, you roll into a community and start with the hard conversations. They just won’t want to work with you anymore.”

DENNIS MOHATT

The Western States Decision Support Group (WSDSG) is an information-sharing network for state government behavioral health data and evaluation staff and managers from the WICHE states and territories. Since 1985, the WICHE BHP has managed initiatives, including information-sharing platforms and support to stay apprised of developments and best practices in the field of behavioral health data and evaluation.

“Information comes so fast, and having a center that can sort through information and get that information out to service providers to advance their use of what we know is the best science—that makes the whole system better.”

THOMASINE HEITKAMP
professor of graduate nursing at the University of North Dakota and co-director, with WICHE’s Dennis Mohatt, of the new Mountain Plains Mental Health Technology Transfer Center
The WICHE BHP, in partnership with the University of North Dakota College of Nursing and Professional Disciplines was selected by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) to co-administer a newly created MP-MHTTC.

The mission of the MP-MHTTC is to provide comprehensive training, resources, and technical assistance to rural and frontier mental health providers and other practitioners in SAMHSA's Region 8, resulting in a stronger, more robust mental health workforce, in historically underserved areas. The MP-MHTTC team identifies existing and develops new resources that are shared across Region 8, and the larger TTC network. Region 8 is comprised of the following states; Colorado, Utah, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, and Wyoming. The TTC program is comprised of three networks: Addiction (A-TTC), Mental Health (MH-TTC), and Prevention (P-TTC). The networks provide free technical assistance and training in each of the focus areas.

Each region's MHTTC network has an assigned area of interest/need. The MP-MHTTC's assigned area of interest/need is rural and frontier mental health. During the first year of this five-year project, the co-directors traveled across the region to meet with the Directors of Mental Health services in each state. In these meetings, the co-directors introduced the MP-MHTTC project and gave the mental health directors an opportunity to share their concerns and areas of need for which they would like to receive technical assistance. This work ensures that the work of the MP-MHTTC continues to meet the needs of our stakeholder states.

Year 1 activities included the creation and dissemination of, in conjunction with the visits, a needs assessment survey to the behavioral health offices in each of the Region 8 states. Summary and state-specific results of this survey were distributed throughout the region. The WICHE BHP conducted webinar training sessions throughout Year 1 on the following topics: Housing for All in Rural Communities, Rural Assertive Community Treatment, Farm Crisis, Suicide Prevention in Primary Care, and Rural Veterans Suicide Prevention.

The MP-MHTTC advisory board, comprised of representatives from each Region 8 state's mental health authority, persons with lived experience, and other stakeholders from the states, was established during the first year. This diverse group had an in-person meeting in Denver, in February 2019. The group provided detailed analysis of the strengths, weaknesses, and opportunities for growth within each state's mental health system. This feedback encompassed issues faced in rural and frontier areas, workforce challenges, and ways that the project can positively impact the state's mental health efforts. The advisory board met for a second time, virtually, in August 2019. During this meeting, the MP-MHTTC team shared the work that has been done and solicited feedback on areas of concern from the board.

An additional grant was awarded to the MP-MHTTC to provide school-based mental health training and technical assistance. As part of this supplemental grant, the WICHE BHP did targeted outreach to two schools, one in Livingston, Montana, and one in Salina, Utah. This technical assistance was provided to school leadership, including superintendents, principals, and administrators. Each school was given the opportunity to select an area of need, and the technical assistance was then built specifically for each school. The schools received evidence-based practices for mental health promotion, prevention, and the identification of at-risk youth. In general, the technical assistance provided training on suicide prevention and awareness.

The main MP-MHTTC project will continue for an additional four years, while the school-based supplemental will be funded on a year-to-year basis.

Together With Veterans (TWV) is funded by the US Department of Veterans Affairs Office of Rural Health. It is a partnership of the VA Rocky Mountain Mental Illness Research, Education and Clinical Center (MIRECC), the WICHE BHP, and local organizations that are run by or serve veterans. The WICHE BHP engages rural communities via local veterans and their community partners, including health care, behavioral health, law enforcement, gun shops, faith community, and others as identified locally to implement evidence-informed suicide prevention strategies.

WICHE has been an integral partner since the inception of this program in 2015, developing the program design, launching an inaugural site, and creating a website to provide information about veteran suicide prevention strategies. Three additional sites were launched prior to October 2018.

During fiscal year 2019, the WICHE BHP provided support to existing communities, created infrastructure to expand the program up to 22 new sites in coming years, and supported the development of a veteran digital health application, Operation Veteran Strong. Activities included:

Site Support and TWV Summit
- WICHE traveled to three sites (in Montana, North Carolina, and northeastern Colorado) regularly to facilitate program planning and implementation efforts. Implementation highlights include 26 trained suicide prevention trainers who then trained over 100 individuals in Question, Persuade, Refer (QPR) suicide prevention.
- WICHE hosted the TWV Summit in February 2019. Representatives of each of the four demonstration sites met at WICHE to share lessons learned, successful implementation strategies, and provide input regarding program development.

Toolkit Development
- WICHE drafted a toolkit to support TWV community programs. The toolkit was approved by the VA Office of Rural Health in July 2019. WICHE then developed an online, interactive website to guide communities through implementing TWV with fidelity.

Recruiting Four New TWV Sites
- WICHE traveled to rural communities in New Hampshire, Virginia, North Carolina, and Texas to present information about TWV and gauge interest in the program. All of these communities agreed to be trained to become new sites for the program.

Operation Veteran Strong
- WICHE worked with Cactus and Grit Digital Health and created TWV websites to establish an online suicide prevention tool that enables veterans to privately assess their needs and connect with local, regional, and national resources.

The WICHE Behavioral Health Program (BHP) is one of two self-funded units within WICHE, and as such, must earn sufficient revenue to cover all expenses. Additionally, the BHP is required to maintain a reserve to ensure stable operations in lean economic times. In FY 2019, the BHP generated more than $300,000 of revenue in excess of expenses, allowing the unit to contribute to its reserve fund.

As shown in Figure 1, the BHP is projecting that revenue will increase from $4.4 million in FY 2019 to $5.1 million in FY 2020. Similarly, expenditures are projected to increase from $4.1 million in FY 2019 to $4.7 million in FY 2020.

In FY 2019, the significant growth in revenues was largely attributable to three new federally funded contracts. In addition to the VA-funded Together With Veterans Program, the BHP has partnered with the University of North Dakota to co-facilitate the federally-funded Mental Health Technology Transfer Center (MHTTC) and partnered with JBS International on the federally-funded Rural Communities Opioid Response Program. As a result, federal revenue accounted for just over 46% of all FY 2019 BHP revenue, as shown in Figure 2. The next largest source of FY 2019 revenue was from contracts with state and not-for-profit agencies at just over 45%. Revenues from WICHE state and territories support fees and revenues from required indirect costs each accounted for approximately 4% of revenues in FY 2019.

Similar to previous years, the largest portion of estimated FY 2020 expenditures is for staff salaries and benefits at 42.6%, followed by consulting fees at 31.5%. Charges for rent, IT services, indirect costs and other expenses are estimated to comprise 16.3% of FY 2020 expenses, and travel costs are estimated at 9.7% of all expenses.
Founded in 1955, the mission of the WICHE Behavioral Health program is twofold: 1) to assist states in improving systems of care for behavioral health consumers and their families; and 2) to advance the preparation of a qualified behavioral health workforce in the West. The program collaborates with states to meet the challenges of changing environments through regional research and evaluation, policy analysis, program development, technical assistance, and information sharing.

The Behavioral Health Oversight Council is the WICHE’s Behavioral Health Program’s advisory board. The Behavioral Health Oversight Council is composed of the chief state behavioral health official from each WICHE state and two representatives of the WICHE Commission.

The purpose of the Behavioral Health Oversight Council is to advise in establishing the programmatic and fiscal direction of the program; to provide active representation of the public behavioral health service system in the program’s formulation of its policies, objectives, and priorities; and to advocate for financial and participatory support of the program.

Dennis Mohatt, WICHE vice president for behavioral health, was nominated and selected for the 2019 Distinguished Contributions to Practice in Community Psychology Award by the Society for Community Research and Action (SCRA), American Psychological Association Division 27 representing the field of community psychology.

Mohatt received the honor based on his career-long efforts helping to create, collaborate on, and advocate for mental health services in rural communities, optimizing their administrative and service strategies, and making important research and scholarship contributions to community psychology. He was honored and gave a talk at an award ceremony at SCRA’s biennial conference June 26–29, 2019 in Chicago. His address was published in the October 2019 issue of American Journal of Community Psychology.

Mohatt has served WICHE since 2001, leading collaborative work across the WICHE region. He received his undergraduate training at the University of Oregon, and an NIMH training fellowship in rural mental health at Mansfield University in Pennsylvania, where he earned a master’s degree in rural community-clinical psychology. As a discipline, community psychology focuses on efforts for which collaboration is key to action. “It’s why I have this job,” he says. “I use those skills every day.”
ABOUT WICHE

For 65 years, the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE) has been one of the leading higher education agencies serving states, students, and institutions throughout the West. WICHE is one of four regional interstate higher education compacts, with a diverse portfolio of programs and priorities that:

• Accelerate regionwide sharing of ideas and resources to help states and institutions improve their educational systems, services, and workforce

• Provide expert research and policy guidance for legislators and educational leaders in diverse niches including data-sharing, governance, behavioral health, and demography

• Prepare universities, colleges, and communities for social, economic, and technological change

WICHE’s Behavioral Health Program is one of numerous programs (some of whose scope and impact is national) that provide direct value to its 16 member states and territories. Others include:

• Student Access Programs that offer a broad range of affordable higher education options for more than 42,500 students each year at undergraduate, graduate, and professional levels.

• Policy and research work on myriad topics, including Knocking at the College Door, the nation’s most authoritative report on high school graduate demographics, and a Multistate Longitudinal Data Exchange that will help answer key questions about the development and mobility of human capital by linking education and occupational outcomes across state lines.

• WCET (WICHE Cooperative for Educational Technologies), the leader in the practice, policy, and advocacy of technology-enhanced learning in higher education. Its growing membership includes 398 institutions, higher education agencies and systems, nonprofit organizations, government agencies, and corporations in all U.S. states and several Canadian provinces. WCET is widely recognized as one of the most informative, reliable, and forward-thinking organizations focused on the role of technology and innovation in higher education.

• W-SARA (WICHE - State Authorization Reciprocity Agreement), a voluntary initiative that increases student access to distance education courses across state lines while also providing needed quality assurance and making it more efficient for states to oversee, and for institutions to participate in, interstate distance education.
