How do I qualify for WUE?

Where are the WUE institutions?

- Our 160+ two- and four-year schools are located throughout the WICHE region.
- All WICHE members have one or more participating institutions.

Applying for WUE

- There is not a general WUE application:
Apply directly to the institution.
- Many of WICHE's partner institutions use WUE as a merit scholarship. When you apply, look for:
 - Early deadlines or first-come, first-served programs
 - Is a separate application required?
 - Minimum GPA and SAT/ACT scores
 - Restrictions on eligible majors
(i.e.: University of Arizona only offers WUE for mining engineering)

- Can't find application details? Contact the school directly
 - Offices that handle WUE (this varies by school): Admissions, financial aid, or scholarship office

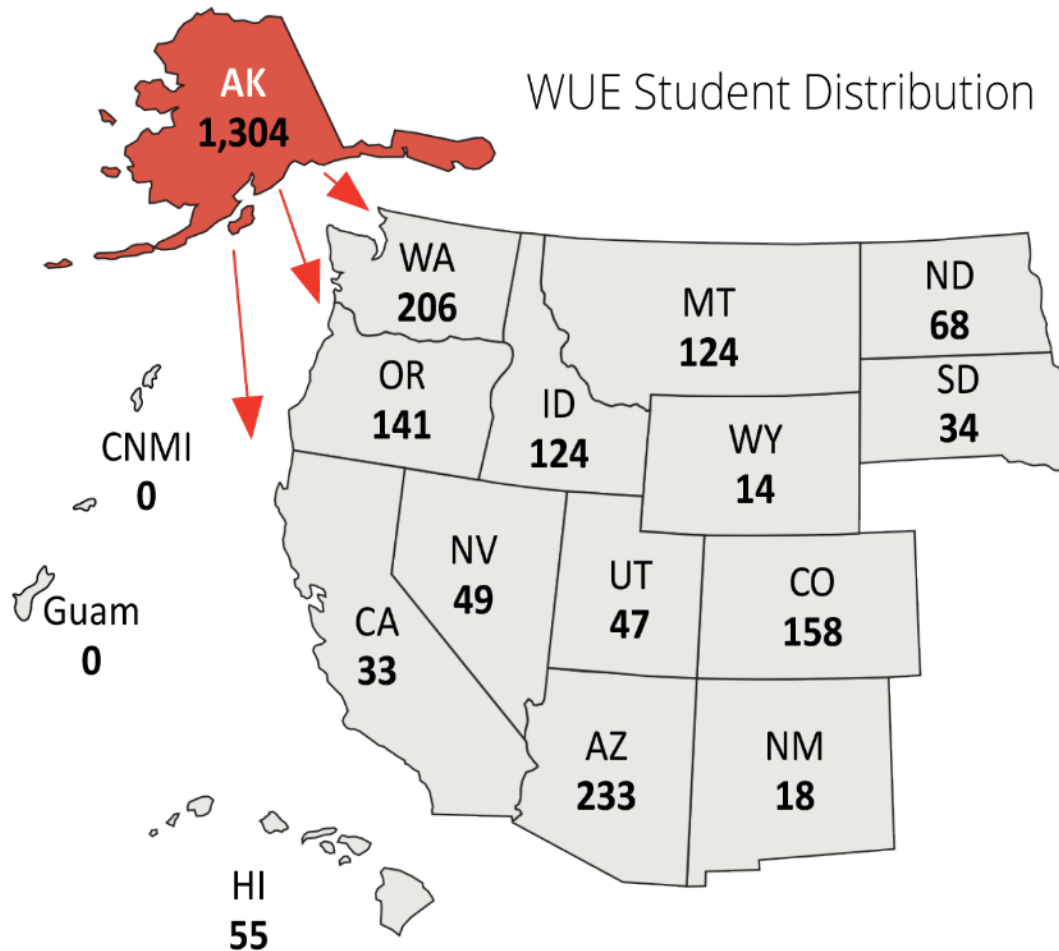

Things to remember:

- WUE awards are time-limited, or may max out after a certain number of credits are earned
- Students must remain in good academic standing
 - Check with the school for specific GPA/minimum credit hours requirements
- Students can't use time paying the WUE rate to gain in-state residency
